WE NOMINATE

Harold Eugene Zarker, 54-year old Princeton bank officer, whose understanding of the "moving, advancing techniques of modern banking" has led to his recognition as one of the East's outstanding authorities in the field of banking education. Currently serving as vice-president in charge of the $28,000,000 Banking Division of the growing Princeton Bank and Trust Company, Zarker combines his day-to-day responsibilities with community service and a teaching schedule that each year brings him into direct contact with at least a half-dozen institutions and bankers' groups. In recent years, for instance, he has lectured on the campuses of eight different state universities—from Pennsylvania to Arkansas and from North Carolina to Vermont.

Described by fellow bankers as a remarkable executive with unusual ability in the related spheres of personnel and public relations, Zarker as a teacher, and specialist in banking operations is concerned with what he terms "the banker's education in the broadest possible sense." Whether speaking before the Educational Conference of the American Institute of Banking, or teaching in Rutgers University's Extension Division, or giving a guest lecture in Princeton University's School of Engineering, he emphasizes that "the maintenance of a technique of change is the fundamental principle of stability" or that the "banker must understand, and have the courage to adopt, new policies and principles to fit new times and new opportunities."

A member of the second class (1938) of the Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers, a unique professional school he now helps direct as a senior faculty member, Zarker's "Princeton years" have been divided into two distinct periods. He was first called to the Bank and Trust in 1938 as comptroller and for the next six years held forth as its treasurer and general manager. Early in 1945 he moved on to the vice-presidency of the First Bank and Trust Company, Perth Amboy, N. J., the assignment he relinquished in 1952 to accept his present post. Here and in Perth Amboy he was accorded an honor traditionally reserved for respected and successful men of affairs—the presidency of the Rotary Clubs in both communities.

Zarker, Pennsylvania-born (a native of the anthracite mining town of Lykens) and Pennsylvania-educated, entered banking in 1934 after completing some 11 years in industry, including a period of service as chief general accountant of the Armstrong Cork Company. From the Fulton National Bank, Lancaster, Pa., the road led to Princeton and to positions of leadership in other professional and service organizations. A past president of the Philadelphia Chapter of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers, now vice-president of the Mercer County Bankers' Association and a director of Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., he has twice been elected chairman of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross.

For working for the kind of cooperative endeavor between education and business that makes for the advancement of our free society; for helping provide educational opportunities in increasingly complex fields; for distinguished achievement in his chosen profession; he is Town Topics' nominee for

TO A NEW HOME

A Chance to Live Again. A heroic Hungarian family—consisting of two brilliant research scientists, their three young children (age 4 to 10) and the wife's mother — can become completely self-sufficient in their new country, if they can rent a modest home near the center of Princeton or on one of the bus-routes leading into Nassau Street.

Now on the high seas and scheduled for arrival at Kilmer early next week are the Andrew Zalays, who as a family are all too familiar with the anguish and physical torture of imprisonment, the blind despair at capture within sight of safety and the thrill of finally "crossing over" into freedom. Their bond with Princeton is the close friendship that existed between Professor Eugene Pacsu, eminent Princeton chemist, and Dr. Zalay's father. Professor Pacsu, Budapest-born, heard of the Zalays' plight and through the Textile Research Institute arranged a research fellowship for Zalay at TRI.

This firm offer of a job, the kind of post Professor Pacsu had previously extended to his childhood friend's son in 1949, paved the way for the Zalays' emigration to the United States. Subsequently, Dr. John H. Dillon, director of TRI, has also offered a research assignment to Mrs. Zalay, who like her husband took her doctorate in organic chemistry at the University of Budapest. As reconstructed from correspondence between the Zalays and Dr. Pacsu, the Zalay saga runs like this:

In 1949 Dr. Zalay was suddenly arrested by the secret police and was imprisoned for over a year "because I wrote a letter to Professor Pacsu about leaving Hungary". During this period he was beaten so severely that his hearing was permanently impaired.

Last fall Dr. Zalay, research director for a widely-known pharmaceutical firm, chanced to be in Vienna at the time of the October Revolution. He promptly raced back to his family and has since recalled that "for a short time we thought we had won, but no help came."

On November 27 the Zalays — six strong — made their first break for freedom. Totally exhausted, and a short step from the Austrian border, they were halted by rifle-fire and intercepted by a Russian patrol.

Less than a month later they started out again — once more on foot but this time by another route. "This time we made it, crossing over two days before Christmas." Their first indirect contact with the United States, after American officials learned that Princeton was to be part of the Zalay's future, was a showing in Vienna of the documentary film "Princeton" by a still anonymous Princeton University alumnus.

The Zalays will reach "home" next week. They will be on their own, they can make their own way but they need help in locating a conveniently situated house from where the Drs. Zalay can commute to the Textile Research Institute while grandmother takes care of the children.

Professor Pacsu, at whose Winant Road home the Zalays will be temporarily headquartered, can

Le Facteur Sonne Souvent

A. N. Spanel, 344 Stockton Street, chairman of International Latex Corporation, has long promoted his concept of internationalism beyond the business level, particularly in his tireless efforts to encourage happy Franco-American relationships through such media as newspaper, advertising. But never did the self-made "good will" ambassador dream he might one day cause the splendid stir that reached its climax in the United States this past week.

Having broadcast a friendship appeal over a large Paris radio station last month, Mr. Spanel was startled to learn that thousands of congratulatory postcards and letters were piling up for him in France. By special arrangement with the French government, to further his all-out amity program, the Latex chairman helped bring 30-year-old Abel Charbonnier, a mailman from Lafayette, to deliver some of the now-bulky mail and see America. The visitor, who had never even seen Paris, has been Mr. Spanel's guest all week, loving the experience and humbling King Saud of Ababia in the favorable publicity department.

Of note: Mr. Spanel's messages from France have hit the 1,100,000 mark, an amazing total for one radio broadcast.

MORE PARKING!

Trinity Church Helps. Princeton Borough's acute downtown parking situation, long the bugaboo of municipal leaders as well as city merchants, received precious aid from an unexpected source this week. Through its officers and vestrymen, Trinity Church informed the Borough that it will make land available—on its west side, between Mercer and Stockton Streets — for a new municipal parking lot.

The churchmen asked only that Trinity be given use of the entire facility on Sundays, when the church experiences a serious parking problem throughout its neighborhood. Otherwise, the Borough will be able to use the 50-space lot for metered all-day parking, thus relieving part of the present strain on west side streets.

According to Council, the lot will be "as rustic as possible for parking areas" and will be located at the southwest corner of the property, thus partially obscured by small buildings on either side. Entrance and exit will be executed from the Mercer side of the land.

Elsewhere on the all-too-familiar parking front, Mayor Sturges and Council took two other steps in the direction of solution. Council went on record as recognizing the threat of competition in negotiating for the "highly desirable" Public Service property at Witherspoon and Wiggins Streets, scheduled to be sold at least by year's end. The Councilmen vowed to give purchase of the potential parking area "every conceivable consideration."

At the same time, the mayor tossed problem No. 1 to his new Advisory Committee on Parking and Traffic — re-evaluation of the Chambers Street parking lot. Based on the number of lots to become available near Trinity Church, the all-day facilities on Chambers Street may be decreased with the number of "short-stop" spaces raised. Another development up for study: boosting the borough's low (20c for ten hours) rate for all-day parking.

PERSONALITIES

Henry P. Tomlinson, Princeton-Kingston Road, former (nineyear) Mengel Company executive, dent of Con-S shr agk hrd hrd ho this week took over as president of Consolidated Fruit Jar Company, New Brunswick, a small manufacturing business which has produced more than 18,000 different items (and almost everything but fruit jars) since its founding in 1858. Hoping to revitalize the company, responsible primarily for "trimmings" for cans and containers, will be two other Princetonians, Christopher R. P. Rodgers, The Great Road, and Edward G. Green, 36 Laurel Road, who purchased controlling interest in the firm with the new president.

George F. Kennan, 146 Hodge Road, onetime U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union and now a history professor at the Institute for Advanced Study, who has added to his numerous honors the George Eastman Visiting Professor at Oxford University for 1957-58 and will go to England in October to lecture on "Russia's Relations with the West During the Early Years of Soviet Power."

Lois Smith, of 15 University Place, fast-rising Broadway star who performed so notably last fall with Helen Hayes in Tennessee Williams' oft-played play, "The Glass Menagerie," that she has earned a lead role in the same author's newest offering, "Something Wild in the Country," which will open at the Martin Beck Theatre on March 21 following tryout runs in Detroit and Philadelphia.

ROUND-UP

Happy Birthday to the Borough of Princeton: 144 years old next Monday — incorporated February 11, 1813 . . . Speaking of our eldest municipality, a public hearing on the Borough's proposed 1957 budget of some $1,811,000 has been scheduled for the evening of March 5 . . . And, speaking of our youngest, the Township Police Pistol Club has made a lot of friends for that municipality by sponsoring its closely supervised firearms training course for Princeton youngsters, which lured more than 50 for the opening session last Saturday.

David E. Lilienthal, former chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority and noted government advisor, reporterly has agreed to purchase a home in Princeton and will move here with his family in the near future. . . An item of interest for those concerned with the weather (and who isn't after last Friday's snow and the ensuing mildness that brough rain and SLUSH?): a friend of a friend, who boasts about his ability as an amateur meteorologist, predicts that New Jersey will receive more snow during the next 10 days than it has measured in any 10-day period (30 inches) for the last 50 years. . . To add insult to injury, the wonder "brain" of UNIVAC somehow has figured that the east will experience its worst winter storm in history on Washington's Birthday!

Perhaps prompted by the abovementioned dire weather forecasts, Borough Police Chief John H. Smith reminded residents this week that streets must be cleared of autos at night for pluwing purposes after a snow fall and sidewalks in front of homes and businesses must be cleared within 12 hours afterwards. . . He noted that 62 all-night parking tickets were written following last Friday's storm and three dozen people were warned about sidewalk conditions on Saturday. . . Trenton Transit has announced it will hike bus fares between Princeton and the capital five cents. . . Barbara Epstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Epstein, 7 Littlebrook Road, has been chosen the first "Student of the Month" at Valley Road School, where she is an eighth grader.

Spring-time note: After a four-year visit to Washington's Potomac River, the Eastern Rowing Championship will return to Lake Carnegie for an all-day affair May 18. . . Dr. Ashley Montagu of Cherry Hill Road, Princeton's current contestant on the "$64,000 Question" TV show pulled himself up to the $32,000 plateau this week, combining his thorough knowledge of anthropology with an adequate amount of American history, and next Tuesday night will get a crack at the top prize.

ANOTHER MILESTONE FOR MORVEN: At precisely 9:20 last Sunday evening, Governor Meyner and his attractive bride of 20 days, the former Helen Stevenson, arrived at Morven, the 252-year-old Colonial mansion on Stockton Street that has housed many prominent Princetonians and henceforth will serve as New Jersey's official gubernatorial residence. Both well-tanned and delighted to be home, after a tardy trip here from their two-week Caribbean honeymoon, the Meyners went through a traditional threshold-crossing ritual and were welcomed by Conservation Commissioner Joseph E. McLean of Princeton. Meanwhile, the governor's executive assistant, Raymond F. Male, also of Princeton, substituted for his boss on TV and said he has "no doubt" Mr. Meyner will attempt to extend his Morven stay come November. Asked that question a day later because of a rumored lucrative job offer, the Governor had "no comment." (Town Topics Photo)

SCHOOL ELECTIONS DUE

Races in Both Districts. The largest number of candidates to seek office on Princeton's two boards of education will go before the voters Wednesday. Borough residents will find their ballots at the Nassau Street School, Township voters at the Valley Road School and polls in both districts will be open from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

In Princeton Township, the puhlic will also be asked to decide the answer to three questions, one of them a routine budget transfer. In addition to anticipating approval of this technicality, the board has asked for an affirmative vote on the other two questions.

The sum of $5,000 is asked to give the board authority to provide, at its discretion, transportation for elementary pupils who live within two miles of the schools they attend and high school pupils within 2½ miles of their school. State funds are unavailable for distances shorter than these limits, and the board is seeking permission to spend a maximmum of $5,000 annually to solve safety problems such as those it has eliminated for children in kindergarten through grade three.

Approval is also asked for a $40,000 appropriation to underwrite the cost of a new school site in the Riverside area. It is felt essential that a 12½-acre tract be purchased there to permit construction of another school, thus meeting properly the educational needs of the constantly-growing municipality. The board points out that the new Littlebrook School will be full next September, and that the size of the younger grades in the present enrollment is such that an additional school will soon be needed even if the population should suddenly level off.

Seven Township Candidates. Of seven candidates seeking office in Princeton Township, one, Mrs. Walton Van Winkle of 68 Overbrook Drive, is unopposed for the unexpired one-year term of John White. The four candidates competing for the three three-year vacancies are, in alphabetical order:

MARSHALL M. AMMERMAN, 41 Gulick Road, assistant national director of field operations for the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. A graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, Mr. Ammerman has three sons, all of whom have been or are in the Princeton public schools.

JOHN E. DOBRIN, 75 Rollingmeade, director of the Cooperative Test Division of Educational Testing Service and a lecturer in Education at Rutgers University. A graduate of the University of Minnesota and father of three children in township schools, he is an incumbent on the board.

MRS. JESS EPSTEIN, 7 Little Brook Road, a part-time worker at ETS in Mathematics Test Development and Actuarial Program Director. A graduate of Barnard who holds a Ph.D. from Bryn Mawr, Mrs. Epstein is the mother of three children in puhlic schools here and is currently on the board.

TOWNSHIP BUDGET

To Be Known Friday. Emerging from another lengthy budget discussion near midnight Tuesday, harried members of the Township Committee announced they have reared final figuring and will introduce the 1957 budget at 5 p.m. this Friday at a special meeting in Township Hall. No one ventured a guess regarding the eventual tax rate or total amount of the budget, but some observers felt the total—not considering the net after including revenues—might be $100,000 more than last year, when the figure was a record $438,320.

Last year, when the tax rate was $7.48 per $100 assessed valuation, Township poperties were assessed at 25% of value and the total amount taxable was $14,000,000. This year, according to the latest figures, $69,634,592 will be the municipality's taxable amount, using 100% valuation for the first time. In other words, there will be quite a jump (about $13,000,000) in the Township's total taxable valuation.

There will also be $1.1 million more in ratcables over 1956, figuring the increase at last year's 25%, so, in other words, there will be $4.4 million in ratables more to be considered at the current 100% figure. Township Clerk Joseph R. Nini said all amounts will be explained clearly at Friday's session, with an official public hearing on the proposed budget set for 8 p.m. on March 7.

dV,nUbia oue

At the same time, Mr. Nini announced the appointment of Calvin O. Schofield of Middletown, Conn., as the Township's first full-time engineer. Mr. Schofield went to work on February 1, operating temporarily out of the mayor's office. He will be aided by Wilbert J. Shinn, the municipality's assistant engineer.

END OF "HOME RULE"

Princetonians May Wonder. Two isolated cases of the state putting its red-taped fingers in Princeton's homemade pie prompted some consternation—and considerable amusement—among Borough officials this past week. As a matter of fact, the incidents had them asking themselves, "Is 'home rule' dead in New Jersey?"

By coincidence, case No. 1 involved Morven, the new home of Governor and Mrs. Meyner, though the occupants played no part in the developments. They were still honeymooning in Caribbean waters when the incident occurred.

McCARTER THEATRE

Still Seats for "Garden." Ticket sales continued at an encouraging clip this week for "The Chalk Garden," which begins its heralded four-performance run at McCarter Theatre on February 14. At mid-week, Mrs. Herbert McAneny, theatre manager, reported the following ticket situation: plenty of seats remaining for the opening performance, at 8 p.m. on the 14th; good prospects for a full house at 3:30 the following evening; excellent sales for the February 16 matinee, considering the usual matinee sales; and a sure sellout for the final performance at 8:30 p.m. on the 16th.

Barring an unprecedented and unlikely sellout of all seats for all performances in advance, the McCarter box office (Princeton 1-5515) will remain open throughout the coming week, and also will be open during the first performances of "Garden" to accommodate theatre-goers seeking seats for the final performances. Mrs. McAneny said early sales indicate the best turnout of the Princeton theatrical season.

"Garden," a high-budget production starring Judith Anderson and Cathleen Nesbitt and featuring an impressive lineup of supporting talent, will come to McCarter on the heels of a successful U. S.-Canada tour that commenced last October. It will bring the two leading ladies together on McCarter's stage for the first time, though each has won praise here before on an individual basis.

A combination comedy-mystery, with a psychological twist, the Enid Bagnold play opened its long Broadway run in the fall of 1955. Since that time, it has played with considerable success in all parts of this continent, and also is currently a smash hit at the Haymarket Theatre in London.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Written on the Wind (Feb. 7-9) develops a high voltage story that is strictly for adults, despite the presence of teenage teaser Rock Hudson. To wit: Rock, a none-too-rich-do-gooder, falls in love with Lauren Bacall, who is already married to Bob Stack, an all-too-rich do-badder who is trying to do better for the sake of Lauren, his true love.

Complicating matters, as if they needed any complicating, is Dorothy Malone, cast as Stack's well-stacked sister who is wantonly mad for Rock. Well, naturally, the only way out of this mess is for Stack to return to his really true love, the bottle, then accuse Rock of fathering Lauren's baby-to-be and then get shot during a drunken spree by his reckless sister. Miss Malone is excellent in the film's most demanding role, Douglas Sirk's direction is worthy of note, the Technicolored effects are first-rate—but keep the children at home.

Bundle of Joy (Feb. 10-12) unites the real-life wife-husband team of Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher on celluloid for the first time, exploiting their much-publicized 1955 wedding and their own "bundle of joy" last year. Despite Eddie's six songs, Debbie's dancing, Technicolor and other added attractions, this remake still isn't as funny or charming as the Gingen Rogers-David Niven original, which boasted none of these come-ons. However, the new version is expected to do wonders at the box office—at least, in many locales, if not here—because of the popularity of its young stars and the "family" appeal of its story. Veteran performers Adolphe Menjou and Una Merkel and able newcomer Tommy Noonan manage to save face, although they seem to be seeking masks to hide behind.

75c and $1, those heart-shaped baskets used for coeur a la creme. Smaller ones about 4½ inches, large ones 5½. Coeurs la creme is the cheese dessert that drains through the basket as it molds, and Gourmet will give you a recipe for it and its strawberry sauce—a perfect Valentine dessert.

To wear while preparing the strawberry sauce, Gourmet has a red-bordered Valentine apron that says "busy, busy, busy!", a matching child's apron that says, "Let me help", and a doll's apron that says, "Me, too!"

Server by Alexander, Princeton's furniture craftsman, George Alexander, has designed and executed what he calls a "party server". If you would like to see it, pull out its fascinating "drawers" and examine its superb workmanship, you may do so from February 14 to April 7 at the Museum of Contemporary Crafts.

Music in Princeton

PUBLICITY MATCHED

Stern Lives Up to His Billing.

Isaac Stern proved last week at McCarter Theatre that he is indeed "America's Great Violinist," as he was billed in the pre-concert publicity. He has long been known, of course, as one of the great violin "virtuosi," but along with his fantastic mastery of his instrument he has a musical perception sometimes lacking in virtuoso players.

His program at McCarter Theatre was by no means an easy one, either from the viewpoint of the performer or the audience, including as it did the Bach Partita in D minor for unaccompanied violin and the late Sonata No. 10 in G major, opus 96, of Beethoven. In contrast to these rather "heavy" works Mr. Stern offered an early Tartini sonata (opus 2, No. 12, in G major) and a pleasant, if banal, piece by Prokofiev (Sonata in D major, opus 94).

The Tartini, which opened the program, is a somewhat trivial little piece, distinguished only by its effective use of the violin (which is to be expected, after all, in a piece by Tartini, who was a violinist unexcelled in his day), certainly not by its material. Mr. Stern's approach to the piece was relaxed, almost casual, even to the point of sloppy execution at times. Indeed, the piece seemed little more than a warm-up for the Bach, which was to follow, so that the inevitable late-comers entering after the first piece on the program missed very little.

The Bach Partita in D minor is a work which many otherwise competent violinists would be well advised to avoid, revealing, as it does, insufficiencies in tone quality and musical conception which remain hidden in less demanding works. This does not prevent, however, performers of less than top rank from programming it and other works by Bach for solo violin.

They are able to play the notes (admittedly a difficult feat in itself) and this they do, and this is all they do, leaving tone, structural clarity, etc., to take care of followed the intermission, is a piece to which Mr. Stern's playing is perhaps basically more suited, dealing as it does with contrasts of dramatic and lyrical material. This was perhaps the high point of the evening (and a generally lofty evening it was).

ADDED ATTRACTION — and what an added attraction — at the Princeton Symphony Orchestra's benefit concert for Hungarian Relief will be lovely Illona Massey, a native of Hungary who has graced the screen and stage for many years. The concert is set for February 23 at McCarter Theatre, with tickets available through Dr. Charles R. Erdman, 20 Library Place.

Mr. Stern's beautiful, almost luscious tone was at its best here; his taste, for this reviewer, impeccable. This was followed by the Prokofiev sonata, which, while lacking any musical profundity, did at least provide occasional snatches of acceptable melody. Mr. Stern again adopted a rather casual attitude, but gave a flawless performance.

The encore was a treat, being a lovely Haydn Adagio which was one continuous melody from beginning to end, and which again displayed Mr. Stern's gorgeous tone and his highly sensitive musicality at its best.

Mr. Stern was ably accompanied by Alexander Zakin. While the dynamic balance between the two instruments at times left something to be desired (mainly what was desired was that the lid of the piano be shut), this had probably more to do with the placement of the piano, the acoustics of the hall, etc., than with Mr. Zakin's playing, which was generally quite sympathetic.

Musical Amateurs Will Meet. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs has scheduled its monthly meeting for Sunday afternoon at 5:15 at Miss Fine's School. Supper reservations must be made before Friday by calling Mrs. MacKenty Bryan (1-0453) in the afternoon.

St. John Passion by Bach will be presented by the society orchestra and soloists. The latter include Janice Harsanyi, Eleanor Holly, Barbara Hilbish, Harry Powers and Fadlou Shehadi.

It's New to Us

Be, Mine. There is just enough time between Christmas and Valentine's Day to put a budget in order so that the buying process can start all over again.

Valentine's Day is next Thursday, and all the necessary supplies are in full stock. Louise Maas, the candy shop at 52 Nassau, has Rosemarie de Paris, gowned in red brocade, heart-shaped neckline. The boxes are $4.50 for two pounds. The Cynthie line is the inexpensive candy put out by Rosemarie and you'll find these in a heart-shaped box, $1.35 for 12 ounces.

Viedt's Chocolate Shop, 110 Nassau, lives up to its name with an immense collection of Valentine boxes. (This shop is closed on Thursdays, and Thursday is V-Day, so plan accordingly.) Here you'll find Fanny Farmer, Whitman and Schraffts starting at 59c for a little red heart chocolate box and going up to $6 for a concoction of satin ribbons and bows.

This shop has the traditional box in several different shades besides red: pink, white, yellow, and an unusual pastel green. You may have your selection wrapped and mailed by Viedt's, if you wish.

At Thorne's, 168 Nasau, Russel Stover is the favorite with little boxes for 75c, and bigger ones for more. Whitman and Candy Cupboard supply some flirtatious red boxes, too.

The youngest purses seem to be particularly well cared for this year. Louise Maas has lollypops for 29c that are absolutely tremendous. Smaller ones, reflecting a smaller allowance, but surely no smaller degree of affection, are 10c and a nickel. For a quarter, you can buy golden coins of milk chocolate in a red heart box.

Viedt's offers the nickel heart lollypop, too, and a ten cent chocolate heart with a cream center. Heart mints in red or white, are 70c a pound, and there are red sugar gumdrops, too. (Heart mottoes in the bulk at Viedt's.) Thorne's also has five-and-ten presents and cinnamon hearts as well.

At Princeton Gourmet (Nassau and Harrison), you may buy for 75c and $1, those heart-shaped baskets used for coeur a la creme. Smaller ones about 4½ inches, large ones 5½. Coeurs la creme is the cheese dessert that drains through the basket as it molds, and Gourmet will give you a recipe for it and its strawberry sauce—a perfect Valentine dessert.

To wear while preparing the strawberry sauce, Gourmet has a red-bordered Valentine apron that says "busy, busy, busy!", a matching child's apron that says, "Let me help", and a doll's apron that says, "Me, too!"

Server by Alexander. Princeton's furniture craftsman, George Alexander, has designed and executed what he calls a "party server". If you would like to see it, pull out its fascinating "drawers" and examine its superb workmanship, you may do so from February 14 to April 7 at the Museum of Contemporary Crafts, 29 West 53rd Street, New York. Mr. Alexander sent his server to the exhibit upon invitation by the Museum, and it will be back in Princeton after New York has seen it.

This server is made of oil rubbed mahogany in that lovely tawny red that is so refreshingly different from conventional mahogany veneers and varnishes. Mr. Alexander has designed what looks like an end table, 27 inches

Chicken in a Spin

Out at Hy's Delicatessen in the Princeton Shopping Center they have a new infra-red barbecue spit that will cook over two dozen small chickens at once, basting them slowly with their own juices to the crispest brown-gold you ever saw. One look and you'll eat all 24.

These may be purchased, as you may have guessed. The price is $1.29 a pound, cooked weight. The average bird weighs 1½ lbs. and you take him home hot in an insulated bag, or cold to re-heat yourself. The chickens are subtly flavored with hickory smoke — there is a heating element in the machine that sends heat through a disc of hickory wood, and there you are.

Guests? Hy's barbecue will cook a turkey for you up to 25 pounds, if you give two days' notice. He himself cooks all his own chicken, spare ribs, roast beef and turkey in the infra-red machine, and you might sample his wares by having a luncheon sandwich in his shop, with some of his extras on the side — Kosher pickels, cole slaw, potato salad, maccaroni salad.

Topics Of The Town

To put the polishing touches on Morven's grounds, preparatory to the Meyners' arrival home, workmen busied themselves filling 12 truckloads of trash, principally tree limbs, for disposal. Quite logically, the employees were trucking the debris to the municipal incinerator for burning. They were, that is, until an agent of the State's Air Pollution Control Commission appeared to point out they were violating the pollution code—and should be burning the trash on the grounds from whence it came.

Several discussion-filled hours later, the workmen transported their controversial cargo to a field (in hopes that lightning will soon strike it.) Everyone agreed the pollution patrolman was "on the ball," but they also agreed the governor hardly would have enjoyed a 12-truckload bonfire on his front lawn.

Darkness Before Light. The more serious "home rule" incident this past week grew up over the proposed Harrison Street-Hamilton Avenue traffic light, for which the Borough has been dickering with the State Highway Department for some months. Funds for the badly needed signal have been included in the 1957 Borough budget, and SHD has okayed its share of money to construct the light, realizing its necessity.

But—and therein lies the trouble—the highway department has listed no less than 15 stipulations that the Borough must endorse before SHD will kick in with its part of the required money. Digesting these stipulations this week, municipal officials discovered they are near-indigestible, mostly because many of the stipulations do not seem vital and, if they are considered "musts," the Borough cannot erect the light on the funds it has allotted for the project.

In an all-covering memorandum to Mayor Sturges, Borough Engineer J. Russell Riker commented on each state recommendation and, in a majority of instances, explained that it could be eliminated or brought within the realm of reason. Council officially objected to the binding stipulations at its Tuesday session, basing its action on the following Riker points (among others):

(1) The Borough believes two standards are sufficient, rather than four with individual signal heads.

(2) The Borough objects to the state's contention that sidewalks be constructed on Harrison Street all the way to Nassau. (3) The Borough objects to some of the street-widening and setback provisions for Harrison and Hamilton, since they do fall to jibe with present Borough plans. (4) The Borough objects to the installation

"SILENT PARTNERS"

La Placa Heads Group. Not since the Louis H. Cahen Construction Company of Philadelphia tried unsuccessfully 14 months ago to obtain permission to erect garden apartments on the old Spruce Street quarry site has the property in question created the commotion it created this week. Public speculation, albeit strictly speculation, was stimulated by the confirmed report that Charles J. La Placa and two "silent partners" have purchased the land and a pair of adjacent holdings.

Mr. La Placa, of 86 Spruce, said he and his collegues bought the quarry area from Ewing Inc., a Princeton development outfit that acquired it from Princeton University in 1954. In addition, they purchased the Loomis tract at 302 Nassau Street, including the old home of Mrs. Robert B. Loomis, plus acreage directly across Harrison Street, on the southeast corner of Hamilton Avenue, which belonged to Mrs. W. D. Pardoe of Yardley, Pa., a one-time Princetonian.

Though Mr. La Placa stressed that nothing would be done with the eight and one-third acres for "a few years," except that his family will occupy the Loomis estate, he admitted that long-range plans called for residential development of the property. Since the whole area represents one of the largest undeveloped holdings left in the Borough, considerable speculation was not unexpected.

Declining to mention anything about his partners, Mr. La Placa did observe that all three parcels are mortgaged to the hilt and will belong to an unnamed bank for the next 10 years.

HOSPITAL TOPS $100,000

"Business-Drive" Begun. A two-week "business drive" that will reach more than 370 concerns in the hospital's service area will begin this week for the Princeton Hospital campaign. To date, the fund has received approximately $101,000.

The business solicitions started with an announcement from campaign officials of a gift of $25,000 from the Radio Corporation of America. The gift was forwarded on behalf of the David Sarnoff Research Center by Dr. Elmer W. Engstrom, RCA's senior executive vice-president, and Dr. Douglas H. Ewing, vice-president for research and engineering.

RCA's "reassuring generosity," combined with gifts from more than 200 other old friends of the Hospital, raised the collected total over $100,000 mark, according to John H. Wallace, Jr., president of the Hospital's board of trustees.

This brings the drive a quarter of the way towards the goal of $391,000, needed by next January 1 to meet the challenge issued by Gerard B. Lambert. Mr. Lambert has offered the Hospital $100,000, provided it raises the balance of the $491,000 needed.

SCHOLARSHIP PLANNED

Fund Will Honor Alan Jensen. Dr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Jensen of 159 Cedar Lane announced this week that the sum of $6,000, set in Mercer County Court as a judgment against the driver whose car killed their son, Alan, last May will be used to establish a scholarship. Details of the manner in which they will use the funds will be made public at a later date.

The decision was reached by Judge Arthur S. Lane, after the defendant, Robert J. Pressley, 1065 Princeton-Kingston Road, agreed that the civil suit being heard should be uncontested in the Jensens' favor. After having been named defendant by Dr. Jensen, Mr. Pressley filed separate suit against Harvey O. Hook, driver of the bus in which young Alan had been riding, and Troop 88, George Washington Council, B.S.A. Charges against the latter were dismissed in court.

Sworn testimony taken during the pre-trial proceedings showed that after alighting from the scout bus, Alan and his identical twin brother, Deane, walked back over 50 feet to the lighted intersection of Nassau Street and Cedar Lane. While Deane remained on the curb continuing to wave at the departing bus now some distance down the street, Alan started across Nassau Street in the crosswalk.

He had nearly reached the other side when he was struck by the car driven by Mr. Pressley. He was thrown 10 to 15 feet in the air and over 40 feet from where he was hit.

The driver said that he made no attempt to swerve to avoid the accident, though there was no other traffic at the time. Investigation showed that there were no tire tracks near the point of impact, nor for 30 feet beyond. Mr. Pressley's car came to a stop over 100 feet after the impact. The scout bus driver said he was two blocks away when he found out that the accident had occurred.

ASCOP EXPANSION

Firm Buys Farmland. With its growth "bigger than anticipated" and the Princeton Junction residential area curtailing future expansion, Applied Science Corporation of Princeton this week reported purchase of a 150-acre farm at Locust Corner, on the Princeton-Hightstown Road, four miles from the main laboratories. The land, obtained from Raymond J. and Stanley T. White, with French & Cook of Princeton handling the transaction, was bought for approximately $115,000.

In announcing the acquistion, Thomas C. Roberts, ASCOP president, said the electronics company is considering seriously the construction of a million-dollar 77,000-square-foot industrial plant (twice the size of the Junction building) at the new site. If plans develop, administration, engineering and sales offices will remain at the Junction property, which is only 12 acres large, and actual development and production will take place down the road.

Mr. Roberts explained that the purchase this week represents part of a long-range expansion program for ASCOP, which has grown by leaps and bounds since World War II. He noted that the Whites' farmland was the closest available with adequate space for the one-story brick and steel manufacting structure that is currently in the blueprint stage.

Birth List. Princeton Hospital recorded 18 births to area residents last week with twice as many boys than girls among the new arrivals.

Parents of sons are: Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Cootes, 128 Washington Road; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Everson, Rocky Hill Road, Skillman; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Connolly, 91 Linden Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald G. Lockyer, 84 Clearview Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Meagher, 210 Fisher Place, Penns Neck; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Levinson Princeton Pike; Mr. and Mrs. G. Arthur Gordon, 35 Clover Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Fletcher, Jr., 12 MacLean Street; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Petrozinni, Academy Street, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. George R. Steward, 774 Prineeton-Kingston Road; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Jakelsky, Washington Street, Rocky Hill; and Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Pike, 165 Hickory Court.

Girls were born to: Mr. and Mrs. Warren P. Elmer, Province Line Road; Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Kopp, III, 206 Riverside Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Bronson Binger, 228-B Halsey Street; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rhubart, 7 Leavitt Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Libby, Brunswick Pike; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cifelli, 25 Greenview Avenue.

PTA Meeting Set. The Rev. Louis Trotta, C.M., will discuss "Vocations" at a meeting of St. Paul's PTA Tuesday at 8 p.m. Group conferences with the teachers and sisters will be held in the classrooms at 7.

Tickets for the annual PTA Communion Breakfast on April 7 will be available at the meeting. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Joseph Buck, Mrs. William T. Barclay, Mrs. John McCarthy, Mrs. Ernest Gribick and Mrs. Joseph Federici.

CALM EVALUATION VERSUS RAGING ENTHUSIASM: James Newcomer, who believes in getting good and excited about a thing he really likes, and Mrs. Kate Davis, who doesn't like to play favorites (but loves paintings no less than Mr. Newcomer), are agreeing about the merits of the van Gogh picture shown here. The picture is owned by Dr. and Mrs. J. Robert Oppenheimer and is currently on view at the Little Gallery. For more about Princetonians' reactions to Princeton-owned masterpieces, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: Which picture at this exhibition do you like best, and why?

Location: The exhibition of paintings from Princeton homes, staged for Hungarian relief at the Little Gallery at Palmer Square.

Mrs. Kate Davis, housewife, 267 Hawthorne Avenue: I don't believe in favorites, and I can't claim to have a favorite picture at this exhibition. I will say, though, that it was a very happy idea to have it, and I hope it will be done again often, not only for Hungarian Relief. Also, I think it very nice that the exhibit coincides partly with the showing of the van Gogh-film, "Lust for Life" —particularly with the excellent van Gogh shown here.

Frank Stella, junior and history major at Princeton University: I have to choose the Van Gogh as my favorite, simply because it is the best painting here. But I also approve strongly of the Cremonini painting, "La Signora." That man has a neat way with a figure. Finally, my third choice would be the Cezanne etching.

A. W. Pollock, art dealer, New York City: "Lewknor" by John Piper, by far. Why Can you give a reason why you like tomatoes? It is not a rational thing. There are other marvelous things at this exhibit, for instance the Redon pastel, but that Piper just struck me the most.

Mrs. Glenn Mohrman, homemaker, 16 Westerly Road: This is a wonderful exhibit in general, but the Cremonini painting made the deepest impression on me. Frankly, I have never even heard about him before, much less seen any of his paintings, but this one painting has just stunned me. It is a most forceful picture, particularly the way he has painted the arms. I am also very impressed with the Cezanne etching. Think of being able to achieve such an enormous effect with just a pencil!

Glenn Mohrmann, advertising researcher, 16 Westerly Road: In my opinion the van Gogh is the most brilliant piece of work here. I don't care for abstractions and can't "get with" painters like Joan Miro, who is represented here. My favorite periods are the Impressionism and the Post-Impression, and van Gogh my favorite from these periods.

James Newcomer, senior and English major at Princeton: The van Gogh, by all means. It dominates the whole show, vibrating the other pictures right out of the picture, if you'll pardon the play on words. Many of the other paintings would in other exhibition command a second look, but here the van Gogh just knocks them flat. If you had a million dollars you couldn't buy a better picture.

Mrs. Kenneth Kassler, architectural writer, Lafayette Road West: I'd make a very personal choice — Morris Graves' "Plover and Night". If I could paint, this is what I would like to say. Graves calls a lot of his paintings "birds of the soul", and I think that's exactly the effect his art has. He has drawn heavily on the orient, and somehow, perhaps through learning from the Eastern painters, has been able to reach this mystic layer of reality.

Mrs. Frederic Adams, housewife and painter, 84 Allison Road: My choice is "Tepoztlan" by Jacques Kupfermann. I love its subtle color relations, particularly its wonderful weather-worn quality and the flecks of sunlight coming through. It has a special grandeur about it. He is the least known painter here — after all, he is only 32 — but I think his painting holds its own among the works of all the famous painters represented here. Wonderful exhibit, by the way!

An Annual Event?

The exhibition of paintings owned by Princetonians and ordinarily gracing the walls of Princeton homes fulfills a long-time dream of the owner of the Little Gallery, Larom B. Munson.

The response to the venture has therefore been doubly gratifying to Mr. Munson. Most of the visitors during the exhibit's first days suggested that this should be made a recurrent annual feature for some given charity (this year the benefit is for the Hungarian Relief), and a number of calls have already been received offering paintings to be loaned next year.

The exhibit will be open through Saturday, February 16.

THE GARDEN

The Phantom Horse (February 7-9) is a Japanese animal that never should have left its stall on the other side of the Pacific. Simply because the film devotes an hour and a half to an all-too-familiar story which American moviemakers have told many times in the past, and much better. A disappointing departure from the usual off-beat Japanese imports, such as "Rashomon" and "Ugetsu," this picture deals with a young boy, his love for a horse, the day of the big race, a fire that scares the horse after almost killing it, and finally the animal's death. Acting, direction and color are attributes, but, even with the English titles, audiences are going to be confused by the pointlessness of the import.

We Are All Murderers (Feb. 11-16) is a fascinating French picture, with English titles, that took several years to cross the ocean, probably because of its morbid theme. Starkly, grippingly and sensitively, the film condemns the French system of capital punishment by detailing the stories of several doomed criminals, who die horrible deaths at the command of much-criticized judicial methods. Paarticularly poignant are the scenes wherein ill-fated prisoners are awakened suddenly and dragged away to their final punishment, the sequences underscoring France's practice of informing death cell inhabitants of their executions only at the very moment their time has come. The entire cast, generally unknown here, is excellent and the grim tales are not soon forgotten.

Famous Films Scheduled. The Princeton Film Forum will start its spring series on February 18 with Orson Welles' picture, "Citizen Kane." Membership in the Forum is by subscription only. The films will be shown on Monday evenings at 8 in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church.

Other films scheduled are "Forbidden Games," "Passion of Joan of Arc," "Man of Aran," "All the King's Men" and the story of Helen Keller. Single subscriptions to the series cost $3.50, double (admitting two persons) $5.50. Applications can be sent to Dr. Ben Shimberg, 26 Cuyler Road, tel. 1-2206.

It's New To Us

high, with gently tapered legs. There are three drawers, each one three inches deep with slots for drawer pulls.

The top one is really a drawer. The other two reveal themselves, when they are pulled out, as end tables with their legs neatly tucked beneath them. They are 24 inches high and, of course, almost the same area as the mother table. The Alexanders have calculated the size of things so that one couple can sit and eat at each table. The server, therefore, serves six.

If you like, Mr. Alexander can make your server with one or two more "drawers" so that it serves eight or ten and looks more like a small chest than an end-table. The finish, we need hardly add, is impervious to both guests and alcohol.

Sleek and Silk. If a young man sends your daughter one of the $7 Valentine candy boxes we described above, you might as well visit the French Shop, 20 Nassau, and try on a dress they envision for mothers of a bride. It is a short navy silk princesse with a deep yoke of white lace, sequins, pearls, and scallops. We also recommend it for younger mothers, or for ladies who are not mothers at all.

Navy appears frequently at the French Shop; it's a perennial spring color that women always love. A shantung, for example, has a polka-dot sash to punctuate its line. A two-piece dress in crepe has a navy satin yoke and satin piping around its edges.

To wear with the navy, there is a collection of hats, either navy themselves, or in pastels and bright colors that provide a pleasant contrast. Simple navy or black hats start at $7. Then there's a shiny straw that looks like little ruffled feathers. Each hat is a different pastel—pink, gold, grey, and even a red—$9. Small colorful grapes twine around a cap of grape leaves, olive green.

For a spring cocktail, buy a silk sheath in blobs of olive and rose, with a square front neckline and a very low back. If you're less of a siren, there's a cotton voile print with shirred shoulders.

Sweater dresses continue at the French Shop, many of them with appliques on the little short-sleeved sweaters. One dress, for example, has broad lattice-work checks which have been used as a kind of block applique on the matching sweater. A navy and white dress is topped with a white sweater that has a ladder of navy rungs climbing up the front bands.

This Week: Bumblebees. Well, last week we passed the rooster combs in aspic—seconds, anyone? This week we offer you bumblebees in soy sauce, which seems to be the way they are eaten in Japan. How they are eaten elsewhere, or if, we do not know. You may buy them at the Nassau Del, on Palmer Square.

Next to the bees on the shelf is a can of eel liver which sounds pretty lame, all things considered. There are also some lily bulbs in syrup which you can use for Oriental cookery.

Still on the same shelf are a couple of Chinese staples that are familiar by now even to western ears—birdsnest soup, and shark's fin soup. The news here is that the soups were made and canned in that exotic source of Chinese delicacies, West Germany. Where West Germans get their sharks and birds nests is a professional secret.

One of the best new items at the Del is the Graber olive. Tree-ripened and not artificially colored like standard "ripe"olives, this has the characteristic mottled green of a green-ripe olive and a flavor that tempted us to eat the whole can of 33 (75c).

RESTAURANT SOLD

Waiters Buy Marroe's. Two longtime waiters at the Marroe Restaurant on the Brunswick Pike announced this week that they have purchased the popular eating place from George Lavdas, who took over the ownership only last September. Joseph L. Corridoni, who has been at Marroe's for 15 years after starting in the business at the Hotel Cleveland in Cleveland, and Sam Peyer, who came here from Brooklyn eight years ago, reported the acquisition for an undisclosed amount.

At the same time, the new owners revealed the return of Gus Randhahn, one of the original partners from whom Mr. Lavdas bought the restaurant, who will serve as manager. Mr. Randhahn will be accompanied by Charles Asay, veteran bartender who also is returning to his old stand at Marroe's.

Messrs. Corridoni and Peyer said they will retain the same crew that has been serving patrons of Marroe's for years, including the restaurant's 10-year chef, Tony Purcell, but, in addition, will offer a few new extras. Starting next Monday, they will institute luncheons, serving from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and featuring special businessman's luncheons, plus private dining rooms for luncheon groups. Also, they will enable customers to make use of the Diner's Club along with their already-established Esquire Club service.

Taking this purchase-time opportunity to extoll the benefits of their eatery, the enthusiastic owners, who plan to insure continued good service by continuing to serve themselves, listed a few vital statistics regarding Marroe's: (1) Manager Randhahn was co-owner of the restaurant for 25 years. (2) Despite the fact that it is hidden from the highway, about seven miles west of Penns Neck circle, the restaurant lies only 400 yards south of the road. (3) Specialties of the house are roast beef and live lobsters (four shipments of the latter required each week), plus a $5 "football steak," an extra thick sirloin first introduced by Princetonian Charles W. Caldwell. (4) The restaurant serves food until 11 p.m. daily (drinks until 2 a.m.), an inducement for post-theatre diners.

Over 300 Mothers Marched. About one third—$3,600—of the entire March of Dimes collection in Princeton was raised by the women participating in the Mothers March on Polio. Princeton was the only muncipality in Mercer County to top last year's total, despite the bad weather.

The co-chairmen of the drive, Mrs. Pauline Skillman and Mrs. Dorothy Page, appointed 100 captains to cover areas of the drive. Altogether, 313 women participated in the Mothers March in the Princeton area, which included Penns Neck, Princeton Junction, Grovers Mill and Dutch Neck. The chairmen expressed appreciation to Dr. William Kleinberg for making the Princeton Laboratories available as headquarters for the march.

School Board Praises O'Kane. The Borough Board of Education has passed a resolution honoring its long-term member, Roger J. O'Kane, who resigned when he moved from Wiggins Street to West Windsor Township.

The Board commends Mr. O'Kane on his "conscientious and selfless performance" during his eight years on the board as chairman of the property committee. The resolution also praises him for his "maturity, balance and perspective arising from his knowledge of persons and problems."

Mr. O'Kane is cited by the board as "a faithful public official whose personal qualities, courtesy and kindness, judgment and inspiration have benefited all of us."

Club Plans Anniversary Dinner. The Princeton Business and Professional Women's Club is celebrating its 35th anniversary Monday with a dinner at the Princeton Inn. Preceded by a "hospitality hour," the dinner will begin at 6:30.

Tristam B. Johnson, representing Borough Mayor P. McKay Sturges, and Township Mayor Ralph S. Mason are the scheduled speakers. Mrs. Jean N. Persells is program chairman.

A series of piano selections by Richard Bowman will furnish dinner music. Afterwards the Columbus Boy Choir directed by Donald Bryant will entertain the group.

Part of a state-wide organization, the Princeton club came into being in 1921, receiving its charter a year later. Mrs. Roberta Halligan, state president, will attend the dinner as a special guest.

First Aid Unit Officers Elected. Thomas H. McCloskey, Jr., has been named president by the First Aid Unit of Princeton Engine Company 1. The unit travelled more than 5,800 miles last year while answering 661 calls.

Other officers for 1957 are: Albert Toto, vice-president; John P. Golden, treasurer, and Leonard F. Kraus, recording secretary. In addition, positions were awarded to: Robert E. McCloskey, captain; John Norman, 1st lieutenant; David McCloskey, 2nd leiutenant, and John J. Golden, head driver.

Town Club to Hold Dance. A dance at the Lawrenceville Firehouse is scheduled Friday night at 8:30 by the Town Club of Princeton.

Young adults in the vicinity are invited to attend to become acquainted with the club. Everett May is dance chairman.

Wellesley Club Plans Luncheon. The Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey has scheduled a luncheon meeting for next Thursday, February 14, at the home of Mrs. Erling Dorf, 283 Mercer Road.

Club president Mrs. Bruce Metzger, who is attending the Alumnae Council meetings in Massachusetts this week with Mrs. Dorf, will give a full report on her observations.

Hospital Plans 1957 Fete. The annual fete, sponsored by the Princeton Hospital Women's Auxiliary, will take place on June 8 at the Westminster Choir College, according to Mrs. Gerald H. Smith and Mrs. Marshal M. H. Dana, committee co-chairmen.

Back the School Budgets.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This year, quite obviously, an alert point of view toward education is particularly necessary. Borough and Township residents, whether or not they have children in the public schools, can no longer assume that present high standards will automatically continue without their active support. Fundamental changes have occurred all over the country. School systems which, like Princeton have been rated among the best, are now threatened with losing their position of leadership unless they can compete successfully for the best-trained teachers.

The realization that our children's education may have to depend on sub-standard teachers, or, in some fields, on no teachers at all, should make us eager to endorse the Borough and Township's school budgets' modest increases. At the very best we are offering no king's ransom to these teachers of whom we expect so much. We can scarcely expect the tax rate to go down, but we can make sure that one of the principal benefits from the higher tax is top quality teaching in our public schools.

Our schools are at once a product and a symbol of the community. They reflect the energy, the character, the interest of its citizens. If our chief concern is to "keep taxes down," we cannot maintain the excellent standard of education surely all of us want. Not only our own children but our community and our country would be the eventual losers if we were to follow this shortsighted policy.

This is no time fo complacence, for placid acceptance, for static inaction. "What is honoured in the town will be cultivated there." To go out and vote, in the school board election on February 13, for the proposed budget and for those who support it, is our privilege and our responsibility.

FUN FOR FUNDS

Festival To Aid Sclerosis. The Princeton Shopping Center will be the site this weekend of the Multiple Sclerosis Society's fund-raising "February Festival."

Sponsored by the Central New Jersey Chapter of the national organization, the program will be in full swing between the hours of 4 and 9 on Friday and 10 to 5 on Saturday. The activities include performances by vocal and dance groups, as well as exhibitions of foreign cars and boats.

Princeton University plans to send its Freshman Glee Club, directed by Spencer Welch, and the Tigertines, a close-harmony group with a varied selection of songs. Harvey Wilson will conduct the Princeton Male Chorus and sole performances will be rendered by Paul L. Smith, baritone, and Insley Pyne, tenor.

In addition a brief ballet is scheduled by Mila Gibbons and her Aparri Dancers while Peggy L. Bayer's pupils will present a "jive" exhibition. Also ticketed for appearance are the Princeton High School Band, a young people's square dance group, Spanish dancers and Scottish Highland Dancers.

Members of the Trenton Talent Club and the Trenton Clown Club will collaborate on a special variety show for children. Two Saturday morning programs are planned, at 10 and at 12.

Cleared for the occasion, Bamberger's furniture annex will be the scene of the festivities. Princeton business firms aiding the event include Shopping Center stores, the Matthews Construction Company, the Music Shop and the University Store.

Post Office Jobs Open. Positions as substitute clerks and substitute carriers are now open at the Post Office. The jobs, paying $1.82 an hour, are open to all, regardless of residence.

Applicants will be asked to take a written test, but no specific education or experience is required. Further information and application forms are available at the Princeton Post Office.

TRAVEL TIME

Tiger Teams on the Road. All Princeton University teams will be in action this weekend, but virtually all of them will be on the road. The lone varsity contest at home is a fencing match against Columbia at 2:30 in Dillon Gym, while a look at the freshman basketball team can be had an hour later when it plays Temple Saturday.

The basketball team may be heading into trouble when it invades New Haven for a contest with Yale at 8:30 Saturday night, since the Elis have a high-scoring contingent that could give the spotty Tiger defense more than it can handle. For those with FM radios, the game will be on University station WPRB (103.9) at 8:30.

The hockey team is certain to have its hands full at Hanover, where it will participate in Dartmouth Winter Carnival proceedings with a morning game against the rejuvenated Indians. Cellar inhabitants for a number of years in the present decade, the Green has regained its winning ways and is currently tied with Harvard for first place in the Ivy standings on a basis of clear-cut victories over Brown and Yale.

The swimming team takes on Navy at Annapolis, with the midshipmen favored, while the squash team heads for New England to meet perennially strong Williams and Amherst. The wrestlers will be at Philadelphia for a match with Penn that should go to the Orange and Black, while the winter track team will open its season against Army at West Point.

Quintet Must Top Yale. Following its mid-week game against Rutgers (played after TOWN TOPICS' deadline), the Tiger basketball team heads for New Haven and a game it must win to stay even with Columbia and Dartmouth in the final month of the Ivy scramble. A loss would topple them out of sole possession of first place, which they have held for the past four weeks, and will make the Lions and the Indians a better bet to win the title because of the schedule. Both these teams have played most of their hardest games away from home, while Princeton still has to visit both Hanover and New York in early March.

Better shooting and steadier defensive work are required of the Tigers if they are to trim the Elis and move through the rest of February without an upset before their climactic games in the final week of the season. They were hitting at a 36% rate going into the Rutgers game, whereas the four veterans (Don Davidson, Ken MacKenzie, Fred Perkins and Whitey Fulcomer) plus John DeVoe were good for a 42% average at this time a year ago. Good as DeVoe was, sophomore Carl Belz has fully filled his shoes, so the need for improvement rests with the quartet of holdovers.

Losing Streak at an End. After dropping its first 11 games this season, the Princeton hockey team ended the long string of defeats by blanking American International College Monday night in Baker Rink, 7 to 0. Saturday evening had seen the Tigers begin the second half of their schedule with a 3-2 loss to Williams.

Mike Erdman and Harry Rulon-Miller, a pair of Princeton residents, got the first two goals for the victors. Before the evening was over, Erdman had added another and sophomore Locke McLean also scored twice. Charlie Hauser and Ed Torrey accounted for the other Princeton goals.

The Tigers played well in victory, but the opposition was outmanned before the opening whistle. Five of its squad had just been suspended for academic trouble, and of the 11 players who arrived for the game, two were goalies, leaving ten skaters. In the last seconds of the opening period, the starting right defenseman broke his arm in a collision and A.I.C. finished the game with nine players.

Williams took a 3-0 lead before five minutes of the second period were gone, with Princeton battling back to make it 3-2 by the time the third period ended. Kim Townsend got both the Orange and Black's goals.

In the final round, the losers could not draw even despite the absence of two Williams' players from the ice simultaneously for almost a full two minutes. A six-man onslaught with the goalie removed just before the game ended also proved fruitless.

REVENGE MOTIVE

PHS Faces Ewing. Still in a good position to record a winning percentage this basketball season, if they reach their true potential immediately and hold it until the campaign's end, the Little Tigers of Princeton High will travel to Ewing next Monday for a tell-tale intrecounty engagement. The coming contest's importance rests in the fact that Coach Tony Borzok's PHS club must beat the Blue Devils at home—and it can be done—after blowing a large lead and losing to them here last month, 85-80.

Actually, the Little Tigers were scheduled to meet powerful Bordentown Military Institute this Wednesday afternoon in a game figured to be won by the visiting prep school five. Final outcome of the meeting was unavailable in time for TOWN TOPICS' press deadline.

A PHS tendency that was apparent in the earlier tussle with Ewing, and even more apparent in the January 25 loss to South River, cost the Little Tigers an excellent opportunity to score the upset of the year last Friday. Once again, this time against undefeated Trenton Catholic, the

Pay-for-Play Pro

Dr. Robert Albahary, full-time (since August) resident-in-training psychiatrist at the New Jersey State Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and sometime expert swimmer, made "news" in Princeton last week—news which failed to reach the newspapers: The story is still worth telling, now that it has leaked out via one of the doctor's Skillman contemporaries.

When the champion Hungarian Olympic water polo team appeared here 10 days ago, one of the first would-be spectators to pay his $2.50 and take a seat was Dr. Albahary, eager to witness a game of his favorite sport. He was sighted immediately by a member of the makeshift New York Athletic Club team, with whom the psychiatrist had once played water polo, and was asked to join the outclassed NYAC septet for the evening. The pay-for-play professional accepted gladly, performed very well and, as it turned out, scored the only goal against the Hungarians in a 10-1 defeat—the first registered against them since the Olympics, when only three were tallied in many games of world championship competition.

Success in Dillon Pool was no accident in Dr. Albahary's case, though it was his first game in five years. Born and educated in Italy, he developed his swimming ability at an early age and eventually earned a berth on the Italians' 1948 Olympic water polo team. He never got to play with the team, however, since he is Yugoslav by origin and missed obtaining the prescribed Italian citizenship by several months.

Blue and White quintet played wonderful ball for the first half, almost fast-breaking its opponent off the court, and then ran out of gas after the intermision while the other team took over to clinch victory.

The Catholic contest was a real thriller—for the first half. With Alan Ammerman, Dick Borger and Steve Hogarty making points with great precision and Nick Kovalakides and Dick Knowles playing the backboards with successful determination, the Little Tigers started off in a flurry that seemed to spell trouble for the visiting Wave. Hogarty broke the ice when the score was tied 2-2, his teammates built up a 10-4 lead in the next three minutes and, at the end of the first period, PHS held a 19-16 advantage.

Catholic bounced back in the second quarter, inspired by its 5-foot 10-inch floor leader and ace marksman, Bobby Piotrowski, to take the lead at 20-19 for the first time. But PHS was still going strong. The Little Tigers traded punches with the Wave for the rest of the half, the lead changing hands no less than 17 times in all, and, by the intermisison, Catholic's margin was a tenuous 41-39.

Third Quarter Disaster. While Princeton managed to hit on 14 of 28 field goal attempts in the opening half, and also came back later to register 50% in the fourth period, there was no such luck in the third quarter. The Little Tigers were just plain cold, and Kovalakides tallied the sole field goal as Trenton outscored the PHS diehards, 23-7. Princeton's regulars showed their fatigue in this period, and Catholic's bench strength proved vital, with two reserves spelling injured John Samonsky in impressive fashion.

If Coach Borzok's club had been able to hold the Wave on even terms in that dreadful third period, the final result might well have been different. For the Little Tigers retaliated in the last quarter, perhaps gaining their second wind, and outpointed the all-winning victors, 20-17. Unfortunately, this spurt was much too late to keep Catholic from tying its school record of 13 consecutive triumphs in one season before the biggest crowd to date, 600-plus in Princeton's new gym.

Piotrowski, the winer's sparkplug from start to finish, concluded the game with 27 points, well ahead of everyone else. Next in line were three Little Tigers, Captain Borger with 20, Ammerman with 19 and Hogarty with 15. Catholic's John Paulaski, who tallied 14 in support of Piotrowski, earned special mention because he sank eight of eight from the foul line.

In the ensuing junior varsity game, the Wave's juniors chalked up their 29th in a row and 16th straight this season by routing the Princeton jayvees, 89-50. Bob Plumeri paced the Catholic quintet with 22 points, while Tony Boccanfuso led Princeton's attack with 16 as the little Little Tigers' record became 5-7, same as the varsity.

Rug Mart Leads Y League. A 5-0 record as play began this week gave the Rug Mart, managed by Jack Petrone, a commanding lead in the YMCA basketball league. The All-Stars were the Rug Mart's most recent victim by a decisive 77-32 count.

Petrone's sharpshooting quintet has averaged 79 points a game, while holding its opponents to 48. The schedule is at the half-way point, with action to continue throughout February.

Monday's contests at Princeton High send the Federalists against Plainsboro at 7:15 and Rug Mart against Gallup and Robinson at 8:30. Wednesday night at the Quarry Street School, Rug Mart takes on the Federalists and the All-Stars meet Montgomery.

BOWLING NOTES

This seems to be the tournament time of year, what with the big Trentonian tourney just over and the 50-game final series of the 11th annual Trenton Times Individual Match Game Championship about to begin . . . Princeton's sole representative among 10 finalists in the Times championship is Joe Baldino, who was second-place finisher in the Trentonian tournament . . . Baldino wound up fifth in the Times elimination play, rising from ninth last weekend with a final round of 1,144 for a 24-game total of 4,519 . . . His partner in the Trentonian classic, Buddy Cavanaugh, bowled the best game of the weekend, a 259, but moved only to 14th place, just out of finalist contention . . . Here in Princeton, the Princeton Recreation Center prepared to entertain some 250-plus distaff keglers for the next three weekends as host alley for the 1957

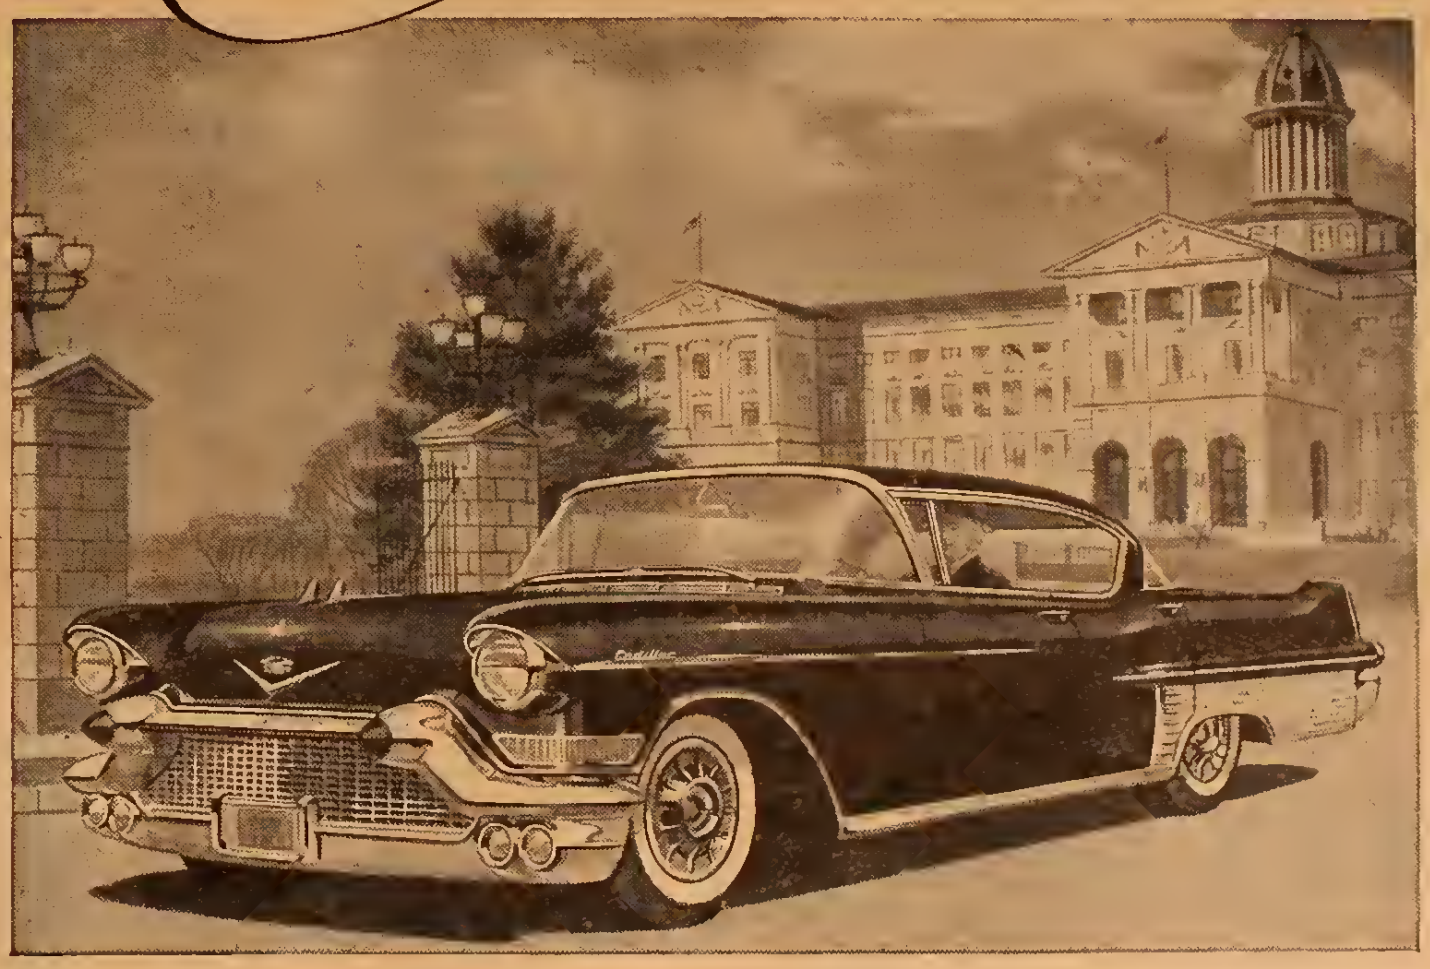
Cadillac



His Golden Anniversary at the Wheel!

In Texas, there is a gentleman who is currently driving out his fiftieth year at the wheel of a Cadillac car.

In New Jersey, there is another gentleman who has purchased every yearly model that Cadillac has produced over the past fifty-three years.

These are simply dramatic examples of one of the most remarkable truisms in all motordom: that once a man takes the wheel of a Cadillac, he usually remains at the wheel of a Cadillac!

To be sure, a motor car would have to offer many unique virtues in order to win so generous a place for itself in the affections of so many.

And, in the case of Cadillac, we think these virtues are self-evident.

There is, first of all, quality. No effort of styling or design or craftsmanship is ever spared to make Cadillac the finest possible motor car.

There is beauty and luxury and performance. The car's magnificent styling and interior coachwork have, over the years, brought Cadillac an inbred majesty and elegance that are entirely its own . . . and Cadillac engineering has been the industry's constant inspiration.

Finally, there is reputation. Never in automotive history has another motor car sustained such an abiding public conviction in its own goodness.

And, certainly, these basic Cadillac ingredients have this year reaped their richest harvest.

So whether you've been at the wheel of a Cadillac for half a century . . . or have yet to spend your first hour in the "car of cars" . . . you should see and drive this newest of Cadillacs.

Trenton Suburban Women's Bowling Tournament . . . At least eight local teams will participate in the tourney, which includes team, doubles and singles competition.

In regular league play this past week, Industrial loop rollers stole the spotlight . . . Bill Bathie (201-244-179 for 624), Larry Golden (184-231-190 for 605) and Rudy Lehnert (185-210-203 for 598) were responsible for top series, while good individual games were howled by Russ Warren, 211, Elmer Perantoni, 209, Donald Fischer, 205, Andy Drummond, 204, Hal Frazee, 203, and Bruce Ferguson, 201 . . . Nassau Del (36 wins) enlarged its Industrial lead over Glenmoor (32) and Nassau Service (26) . . . Princeton No. 1 and Belle Mead, warming up for their showdown match at PRC this Thursday evening, continued their dogfight in the Tri-County Firemen's League, the former still ahead by a one-win margin, 87-86 . . . Meanwhile, Kingston (84) moved into an excellent challenging spot by copping a pair of victories . . . Bip Davison (208-208-177 for 593), Elmer Drake (205-197-189 for 591) and Bucky Cupples (222-198-162 for 582) were the series stars, closely followed by individual hotshots Ike DeHart, 202, and Johnny Donaldson and George Willis, 200 apiece.

In the Major League, Joe Trani's 175-190-237 for a 602 series was outstanding, though Larry Golden tossed a better game, a 246 . . . Six others also rolled 200-plus games, including George Laird, 236, Jack Cooper, 219, Bill Bovino, 208, Bill Bathie, 207, Cy Cornell, 203, and Phil Wesp, 202 . . . Decker's Dairy (16 wins) emerged from a three-way first place tie in the loop, shooting ahead of Blatts (14) and Tiger Garage (12) . . . Sunbeam (46) gained in its Princeton "A" League race with Tiger Garage (42) and Food Tech (34) as Art Cotter, 216, Kenny Luck, 212, Wendell Long, 210, Al Dempster, 204, and John Ferguson, 202, collected the big games.

Weather played a role in the Princeton "B" League standings, prohibiting two matches, and it meant at least a temporary stay in first place for Boice Lumber (12 wins) which swept three games from the Jokers . . . The National Guardsmen (10), absent, and Tiger Bus (10), also absent, were deadlocked in the runner-up spot by Jefferson Plumbing which took two games from Titus Plumbing . . . Dick Edwards was high man for the evening, posting a 221 game, followed by Tom Tamasi, 218, Rudy Lehnert, 215, Jack O'Connell, 213, and Ed Duncan and Hal Frazee, 203 each . . . In the Princeton Women's Bowling League, Sara Rose chalked up games of 178 and 167 as Emens & McVaugh (24) held its front-running advantage over Castoro GMC (18) and Cranbury Pharmacy (16) . . . Other noteworthy games were rolled by Hazel Rohbins, 173, Betty Watson, 171, and Ann Simonson, 168.

VALLEY ROAD WINS

Witherspoon Drops Thriller. In the return match of their traditional home-and- home basketball series this past week, Valley Road School found its own court much to its liking and gained revenge at the expense of Witherspoon School, 39-36. The game was an all-the-way thriller, much in the style of Witherspoon's early-season home victory over Valley Road.

The first half featured little scoring, but did feature a fine display of defensive maneuvers by both clubs. At halftime, Witherspoon enjoyed a short-lived one-point margin, 19-18.

Valley Road substituted freely during the last half, and therein lay the secret of the team's eventual success. For Witherspoon was forced to stick with its top quintet, which showed signs of tiring by the final period.

Most of the winning team's point-making was accomplished on give-and-go plays by Gil Fisher and Sammy Mather, with Fisher on the scoring end. Witherspoon's Tommy Petrone, being double-teamed most of the contest, managed only four points during the opening half, but came back with 14 in the second half for a highly respectable total of 18. Jim Barhour led the losing team's backboard brigade.

PCD Wins Another. Country Day School's hockey team won its fourth in a row last Friday when it trimmed the Lawrenceville School juniors, 6 to 1. Pony Fraker led the attack with two goals and an assist, the Blue and White breaking a close game open with five tallies in the third period.

The Broadmead school's basketball team was out of action but will face Tower Hill of Wilmington, Del., here Friday afternoon. PCD will be aiming to move over the .500 mark from its current 3-3 record.

Goodridge Resigns. Edwin T. Goodridge, one of the founders of Horizons, Inc., process and materials research organization established 11 years ago, has resigned as its president. He will continue his association with the firm in a consulting capacity.

A resident of Province Line Road, Mr. Goodridge founded the organization in 1946 with Dr. Eugene Wainer, research scientist. During the past decade, Horizons has grown to its present status as one of the nation's top independent research organizations. Its home office has been in Princeton, with the laboratory located in Cleveland.

PEOPLE
make us what we are!

The People Who Park In Our Lot . . .

700,000 cars parked in our lot last year — enough to make a bumper-to-bumper caravan from San Antonio to Princeton! Believe it or not, 70,000 of those cars came from places as far away as San Antonio. Actually, we counted cars in our lot from 33 different states.

These are interesting statistics, but even more important are the people who come in the cars.

We've met a lot of naw people. From Maine to California, they've come . . . many to work and study at the University. They're interesting people . . . we've enjoyed meeting and talking with them.

Among our customers, too, are people from all parts of the world temporarily living here in Princeton. For them, we've shipped orders to far away Pakistan, Madrid, British Kenya and many other distant places.

More than 80% of the cars come, naturally enough, from the 5 counties within a 15-mile radius. They not only bring business to us, but to other Princeton merchants as well. They're our neighbors . . . interesting people, too, who know and like us as we do them.

News of the Churches

Trinity Has New Organ. A new Aeolian-Skinner organ, one of the largest church organs in this locality, will be dedicated this Sunday at the 11 a.m. service of morning prayer at Trinity Church. Installation of the organ began last summer.

Designed by Robert Owen, organist of Christ Church, Bronxville, who played the dedicatory recital last Tuesday, the organ contains 54 ranks of pipes which total over 3,000 pipes in all. They are separated into four manual divisions (Great organ, Positive organ and two Swell organs) and one pedal division.

According to Raymond Rudy, Trinity organist, the new organ has a light, clear tone and is not so harsh or penetrating as many older organs. Mr. Rudy believes it is the finest organ he has ever played.

The two Swell organs contain brilliant chorus and solo reeds, two celestes and a full complement of flute stops. The Great organ consists mainly of stops for accompanying hymn singing and adding fullness. The Positive organ contains many of the high frequencies that give brilliance to the full organ.

Trinity's new three-manual console has been designed so that the organist can pre-set all his stops before he begins to play.

Dr. John V. Butler, rector of Trinity, initiated the project of buying a new organ. The committee that chose it was composed of Samuel Frothingham, chairman, and Lee Bristol, Jr., Mrs. Harry C. Hart, Malcolm Peyton and Winthrop S. Pike.

"Emancipation Continues." Using Lincoln's birthday as a point of departure, Thomas P. Cook will discuss the progress of civil rights before the next meeting of the Men's Groups of Princeton's three Presbyterian churches. The meeting is scheduled for next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the First Church. All interested men in the community are invited to attend.

Mr. Cook, a Princeton attorney, is general counsel for the New Jersey State Department of Education and its Division Against Discrimination. He will examine the role of the law in effecting a more Christian and more democratic social order.

A fellowship dinner at 6:45 p.m. will precede the meeting. Those who wish to make reservations should call the church office, 1-0103.

Bulletin Notes. The public is invited to a free showing of a 50-minute film, "The Earth Shall be Filled", this Friday at 8:30 p.m., in the auditorium of the Nassau Street School. The film is being shown jointly by the Christian Science churches of Princeton, Freehold, New Brunswick and Somerville.

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary, St. Paul's, will hold a Valentine dance February 22 from 9-12 at St. Paul's School. . . .

Dedication services for the new St. Paul's will be held on March 24 which is, of course, the third Sunday in Lent, not the first, as reported in last week's Town Topics.

Princeton's branch of the American Waldensian Aid Society will be held February 15 at 3:30 p.m. at the home of Dr. Bruce M. Metzger, 20 Cleveland Lane. The Waldensians are members of a Protestant community in Italy.
